Hello!

Thank you so very much for looking around our website and sharing your time with us.

The academic and extra curricular activities offered by our school have gone a long way in establishing our fifty years of traditions. St. Patrick's offers a great opportunity for student's who are searching for a deeper understanding of a Christ centered education. Not only are students given the opportunity to learn about the life of Jesus Christ during weekly church services and in classroom teachings, but students are also given opportunities to practice that message on a daily basis. The faculty and staff of St. Pats are committed to raising academically, as well as morally rounded students who understand the value of serving the community. The pride in their Catholic upbringing and the quality of the education they receive is evident in the hallways and classrooms they populate.

Here at St. Pats you will find a superb teaching staff that will communicate with you and help mold your student into the young adult they will become. They are here because they believe in the moral obligation of mentoring students to fulfill their potential. Their dedication and pride in the school's mission is unmatched and will be evident if you take the opportunity to see them in action.

For those parents who have been here for years, thank you for your support and belief in what we do. It is because of you that St. Pats is celebrating our first fifty years. To those parents who are considering us as your school of choice, I extend a warm welcome and ask you to please join us as we begin our journey toward our next fifty years. What a great time it will be!

Jason Acosta Assistant Principal